Candidates for Governor:

Katie Hobbs (D)

Hobbs affirms the reality and threat of climate change and advocates for meaningful climate action. As Governor, she champions climate solutions, establishing programs and promoting policies to advance clean energy and reduce emissions.

Katie Hobbs (D)

Hobbs affirms the reality and threat of climate change and advocates for meaningful climate action. As Governor, she champions climate solutions, establishing programs and promoting policies to advance clean energy and reduce emissions.

Candidates for Corporation Commission:

Sandra D. Kennedy (D)

Kennedy affirms the reality of climate change and stresses the importance of taking action. Throughout her career as a member of the Corporation Commission, Kennedy has championed climate solutions, especially renewable energy development. Climate action is a priority in her work and in her campaign.

Lauren Kuby (D)

Kuby acknowledges that climate change is real and calls attention to the urgency of the situation. She prioritizes climate action in her campaign and as Vice Mayor of Tempe championed initiatives to advance climate solutions across the city.

Kevin Thompson (R)

Thompson does not believe that Arizona residents should bear the burden of combating climate change because he believes it has been caused by foreign pollution. He is highly critical of climate action and actively opposes important climate solutions.

Nick Myers (R)

Myers acknowledges that climate change is real but does not believe that it is entirely human caused; he also does not believe that taxpayers should be responsible for funding solutions. He fails to show interest in solutions and actively opposes important climate action, including renewable energy transitions.
